For the skeptics among us, perfect excuse for shutting down our dedicated workplace gives the suits on upper campus the removing all traces of water from our property. Removing all traces of water from our making a power grab for our shorefront it all mean? We have only one answer: Cause is steam. Damned if ice isn't next. Just what does hot water was cut. Then, they then came for our first, the cold water was shut off. Next, the rapid succession suggest more nefarious ends.

Wow. Is it November? I thought I just shaved... Wait, that was four months ago and THAT was four months since it started (is this joke overdone? Are we all becoming dads?). I'm honestly so tired of saying the name that I won't do it. You don't need it, and neither do I; we know. SO, I've put on some weight -- it happens. I'm not commuting, I'm sitting all day, I hardly leave my apartment. But they say the Dad Bod is comin' back in style! (Does that explain the groaner humor?) Maybe that's not your situation. Like the succulents on my window sill, some of us wilt while others plumpen. Either way, it's totally fine if you aren't in peak physical shape. Actually, that goes for any shape. Good mental shape? Breaking, from UW Insider: have you tried not being stressed/overwhelmed/sad? I don't want to be down all the time but WELL, HERE WE ARE. Does binge-watching Cold Case Files at the same desk where I work, take my meals, and see my family count as self-care? But back to shapes. Take the shape of a cloud. I don't care. Might be nice. Certainly nicer than reading the deranged ramblings of someone who has just been cooped up for too long. To all of you, I'm truly proud of you for doing your part. Staying home has been hard, but damn has it been important.

The only way to obtain Quaker's Cinnamon & Spice oatmeal in Canada is to buy Quaker's instant oatmeal Variety Pack. This, despite the fact that the warm and cozy flavour is beloved by Canadians at home and abroad (but especially at home). As the Variety Pack contains but a meagre two packets of Cinnamon & Spice, the only way to purchase a reasonable quantity of the desired type is to clear out grocery store shelves, an irresponsible and inefficient solution. Instead, begrudgingly, we settle for spite eating other-flavoured oatmeal 75% of the time.

Strangely, Cinnamon & Spice, amidst fringe varieties like Cookies 'n' Creme and Cocoa & Sea Salt, stands alone as the sole Quaker oatmeal flavour in Canada not sold individually. Cinnamon & Spice is a simple and delicious flavor that deserves its own box!

This is not a preposterous idea. What is preposterous is that Quaker already sells 10-packet boxes of Cinnamon & Spice oatmeal in the U.S. AND, to add insult to injury, these boxes are made in Canada! If they are made here, Canadians should be able to buy them here as well.

We are requesting that Quaker Canada produce and sell Cinnamon & Spice Instant Oatmeal in individual boxes in Canada. Take a breath, break out your favorite pencil, and prepare to NOT RELAX. Sudoku is a notorious number puzzle where numbers 1-9 are filled into each small square such that none are repeated within the 3x3 squares or in any row or column. We recommend a pencil with a healthy eraser for this 'medium' difficulty puzzle. You're almost certain to throw this zine across the room, so maybe also try folding it into a paper airplane (which will be way more relaxing). The solution will be tweeted by @touchtankzine.
