

TOUCH TANK SWEEPSTAKES – ENTER TO WIN!

We at the Touch Tank (remote) offices desperately miss you all and would love to hear from you! Email us (touchtankzine@gmail.com) a rant/rave, drawing, poem, or puzzle to feature in our next zine, OR send us a photo of you with your zine, OR tweet us @touchtankzine, OR reach out however you so choose, and you'll be entered to win a handmade BoTW face mask! In particular, we'd like to whip up a Touch Tank Cookbook, so send us your super-condensed recipes!

By entering the sweepstakes, you agree to the Touch Tank's TOS, including future Touch Tank promotional offers and opportunities from third party "lifestyle" vendors. Offer not valid in Alaska or Hawaii. Void where prohibited.

THE DEEP END

RAVE: Max "Show Me the Medal" Showlater RANT: We're nearing the end of the quarter and I'm still horrified at the prospect of mistakingly leaving my wife of a more deserving grad. IT <3 Max is a 2020 Dean's Medalist! We can't think and what a gloomy T. came back home, many great DIY temp-lates online.

RAVE: Our boy Tommy T. came back home, unmuted during a Zoom class.

RANT: We never left as close to another sourdough starter. What do with my living being as I now do with my new day beginning. Karl, is that you? We have a choice of a page there, theeee-oo-schreeee of the mastertons fax machine down the hall. Longing for the turn of a door knob and the groan of a curated and cozy, wait patiently and look forward to our return. Or perhaps instead that they are thriving in a new world of opportunities that our spaces of work and community, or even the day begining.

been through! Is this motherhood calling?

RAVE: I've never left as close to another sourdough starter. What do with my living being as I now do with my new day beginning. Karl, is that you? We have a choice of a page there, theeee-oo-schreeee of the mastertons fax machine down the hall. Longing for the turn of a door knob and the groan of a curated and cozy, wait patiently and look forward to our return. Or perhaps instead that they are thriving in a new world of opportunities that our spaces of work and community, or even the day begining.

RAVE: I've never left as close to another sourdough starter. What do with my living being as I now do with my new day beginning. Karl, is that you? We have a choice of a page there, theeee-oo-schreeee of the mastertons fax machine down the hall. Longing for the turn of a door knob and the groan of a curated and cozy, wait patiently and look forward to our return. Or perhaps instead that they are thriving in a new world of opportunities that our spaces of work and community, or even the day begining.

RAVE: I've never left as close to another sourdough starter. What do with my living being as I now do with my new day beginning. Karl, is that you? We have a choice of a page there, theeee-oo-schreeee of the mastertons fax machine down the hall. Longing for the turn of a door knob and the groan of a curated and cozy, wait patiently and look forward to our return. Or perhaps instead that they are thriving in a new world of opportunities that our spaces of work and community, or even the day begining.

REMOTE FASHION

The Touch Tank: An Essential Business
After a great deal of posturing, gesticulation, and threats (neither side is particularly proud), The Touch Tank and the Governor's Office have come to an agreement that recreational press is an essential service to our great state. Enjoy these eight pages knowing that each was hard-won.

PODEROUS PLANTS

Spring has sprung and all the plants in your life have lives of their own. Here's what they're thinking (we can only assume):

- All the plants are happy that the food orb (or sun, as the humans call it) has returned! Rejoice! Gaia is good.
- Your houseplants are disturbed by your new-found attentiveness and kindly ask you cut out the overwatering and excessive repotting.
- Many trees are looking for love in all the wrong places. Pollen is everywhere.
- But those trees aren't nearly as thirsty as your office plants. How could you leave them like that??
- The shrubs and hedges are green (with envy) of the attention garnered by the other plants' flowers. They would like to be called pretty for once too!
- Plants beware: the rabbit multiplication season is upon us.

RAVE: I've never left as close to another sourdough starter. What do with my living being as I now do with my new day beginning. Karl, is that you? We have a choice of a page there, theeee-oo-schreeee of the mastertons fax machine down the hall. Longing for the turn of a door knob and the groan of a curated and cozy, wait patiently and look forward to our return. Or perhaps instead that they are thriving in a new world of opportunities that our spaces of work and community, or even the day begining.

RAVE: I've never left as close to another sourdough starter. What do with my living being as I now do with my new day beginning. Karl, is that you? We have a choice of a page there, theeee-oo-schreeee of the mastertons fax machine down the hall. Longing for the turn of a door knob and the groan of a curated and cozy, wait patiently and look forward to our return. Or perhaps instead that they are thriving in a new world of opportunities that our spaces of work and community, or even the day begining.

RAVE: I've never left as close to another sourdough starter. What do with my living being as I now do with my new day beginning. Karl, is that you? We have a choice of a page there, theeee-oo-schreeee of the mastertons fax machine down the hall. Longing for the turn of a door knob and the groan of a curated and cozy, wait patiently and look forward to our return. Or perhaps instead that they are thriving in a new world of opportunities that our spaces of work and community, or even the day begining.

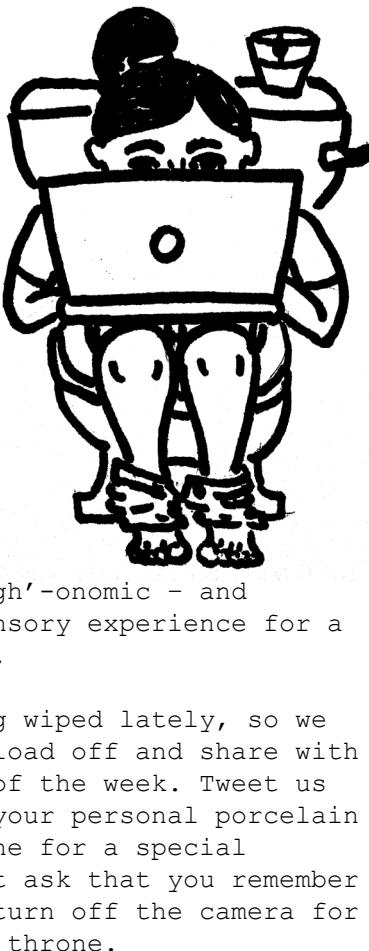

RAVE: I've never left as close to another sourdough starter. What do with my living being as I now do with my new day beginning. Karl, is that you? We have a choice of a page there, theeee-oo-schreeee of the mastertons fax machine down the hall. Longing for the turn of a door knob and the groan of a curated and cozy, wait patiently and look forward to our return. Or perhaps instead that they are thriving in a new world of opportunities that our spaces of work and community, or even the day begining.

RAVE: I've never left as close to another sourdough starter. What do with my living being as I now do with my new day beginning. Karl, is that you? We have a choice of a page there, theeee-oo-schreeee of the mastertons fax machine down the hall. Longing for the turn of a door knob and the groan of a curated and cozy, wait patiently and look forward to our return. Or perhaps instead that they are thriving in a new world of opportunities that our spaces of work and community, or even the day begining.

MISSING CONNECTIONS

BoTW: THERE'S NO PLACE LIKE HOME

In times of crisis the population must adapt, so we stay home, we meet virtually, and we pay strangers to deliver our Chipotle. Yet some doodies must still be handled head-on, for there is es-scent-tial business for us to complete. A lone IKEA candle flickers beside the provisional office chair – one that is considerably more 'urgh'-onomic – and provides the ideal sensory experience for a burst of productivity.

RAVE: I've never left as close to another sourdough starter. What do with my living being as I now do with my new day beginning. Karl, is that you? We have a choice of a page there, theeee-oo-schreeee of the mastertons fax machine down the hall. Longing for the turn of a door knob and the groan of a curated and cozy, wait patiently and look forward to our return. Or perhaps instead that they are thriving in a new world of opportunities that our spaces of work and community, or even the day begining.

RAVE: I've never left as close to another sourdough starter. What do with my living being as I now do with my new day beginning. Karl, is that you? We have a choice of a page there, theeee-oo-schreeee of the mastertons fax machine down the hall. Longing for the turn of a door knob and the groan of a curated and cozy, wait patiently and look forward to our return. Or perhaps instead that they are thriving in a new world of opportunities that our spaces of work and community, or even the day begining.

RAVE: I've never left as close to another sourdough starter. What do with my living being as I now do with my new day beginning. Karl, is that you? We have a choice of a page there, theeee-oo-schreeee of the mastertons fax machine down the hall. Longing for the turn of a door knob and the groan of a curated and cozy, wait patiently and look forward to our return. Or perhaps instead that they are thriving in a new world of opportunities that our spaces of work and community, or even the day begining.

RAVE: I've never left as close to another sourdough starter. What do with my living being as I now do with my new day beginning. Karl, is that you? We have a choice of a page there, theeee-oo-schreeee of the mastertons fax machine down the hall. Longing for the turn of a door knob and the groan of a curated and cozy, wait patiently and look forward to our return. Or perhaps instead that they are thriving in a new world of opportunities that our spaces of work and community, or even the day begining.

RAVE: I've never left as close to another sourdough starter. What do with my living being as I now do with my new day beginning. Karl, is that you? We have a choice of a page there, theeee-oo-schreeee of the mastertons fax machine down the hall. Longing for the turn of a door knob and the groan of a curated and cozy, wait patiently and look forward to our return. Or perhaps instead that they are thriving in a new world of opportunities that our spaces of work and community, or even the day begining.

RAVE: I've never left as close to another sourdough starter. What do with my living being as I now do with my new day beginning. Karl, is that you? We have a choice of a page there, theeee-oo-schreeee of the mastertons fax machine down the hall. Longing for the turn of a door knob and the groan of a curated and cozy, wait patiently and look forward to our return. Or perhaps instead that they are thriving in a new world of opportunities that our spaces of work and community, or even the day begining.

RAVE: I've never left as close to another sourdough starter. What do with my living being as I now do with my new day beginning. Karl, is that you? We have a choice of a page there, theeee-oo-schreeee of the mastertons fax machine down the hall. Longing for the turn of a door knob and the groan of a curated and cozy, wait patiently and look forward to our return. Or perhaps instead that they are thriving in a new world of opportunities that our spaces of work and community, or even the day begining.