Spring Quarter Horoscopes

Physical Oceanography

Look forward to an interdisciplinary collaboration beginning in May, thanks to a fortuitous alignment of Mars with the Aleutian islands. There are strong meanders in the Kuroshio Current which will upset communications. Expect all emails to your advisor to be misinterpreted.

Chemical Oceanography

Don't agree to co-author any new grant proposals while Mars is transiting the Indian Sea, as it will in the beginning of April! A seiche in the San Francisco Bay will occur on June 5, which will be a great opportunity to reflect constructively on yourself.

Biological Oceanography

Spring will not be a good quarter for you. Mars will be conjuncting the triangulated retrograde, and the Northern Hemisphere is NOT in your favor. Avoid typing with your right hand, lest you incur injuries.

Marine Geology and Geophysics

A beautiful alignment of north Atlantic mode water with the mid-Atlantic ridge will bring great success in relationships outside of the workplace and total failure of all technology you interact with. With Mars in the low latitudes, expect to talk with a parent, authority figure, relative, child, stranger, or yourself about something good or bad at some point in the next three months.

THE DEEP END

RANT: Agua Verde is under new ownership. They raised the prices on their breakfast burritos! They don't even serve breakfast burritos until noon anymore >: (On top of that, the recipe has changed. Now we've got potatoes but also sweet potatoes, and who needs two kinds of potatoes in a breakfast burrito? It's a breakfast burrito, not Thanksgiving dinner. The rest of the stuff in there is like, roasted pepper, corn... shit like that, it's weirdly sweet and tastes like vegetable fajitas, which isn't a bad thing in itself, but not in a goddamn breakfast burrito! It should taste like eggs and cheese and salsa and maaaaaybe beans, tops. Also, their menu looks different and I hate it. I feel like this is all some conspiracy to get me to graduate earlier by removing everything that makes the world of UW Oceanography feel safe and familiar.

RAVE: Turns out Agua Verde is giving out comment cards for customer feedback.
